FOCA calls for inspection

In a bid to ensure septic systems on Ontario's lakes are in good working condition, the Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Associations (FOCA) is calling for mandatory inspections prior to any sale of waterfront property.

FOCA President Jean Anthon says she does not anticipate much negative response to the proposal from property owners. She said most have a genuine concern for the condition of their lakes, noting the high demand for Cottage Pollution Control Program studies to be conducted.

Usually it is the offenders who will object, said Anthon. However, she notes that these people are usually reluctant to come forward.

FOCA's proposal comes in the form of a petition to the Ministry of the Environment. It calls for "legislation to effectively control disposition of properties that do not have satisfactory septic and sanitary systems." Once given government approval, all sales of waterfront properties will first require ministry certification that the septic systems are in order. This would be similar to the safety certification required for the sale of an automobile.

The need for stricter legislation is evident from the results of recent surveys conducted by the ministry on four area lakes. Nearly half the systems on these lakes are in need of upgrading to prevent future problems. However, because these systems are not presently posing a problem, the ministry has no authority to order that the work be done.

The petition, sent to the Premier and Ministers of Environment, Natural Resources, Municipal Affairs, and Health, says the resolution was prepared "to combat the defective sewage systems that are contributing to the demise of our lakes and waterways."

Dealer goes south

Stringent Ministry of Transportation and Communications guidelines regarding new businesses along the Highway 35 bypass in Minden have caused a local businessman to look to Lutterworth Township to build.

Don Matthews, who had originally hoped to build a car lot and garage on Minden's bypass, approached Lutterworth council Thursday with new plans to build across from J.A.C. Kernohan's Construction.

The public was excluded from this portion of the meeting as council went into a Committee of the Whole to discuss the proposal. However, prior to the meeting, Matthews told The Times he now prefers the Lutterworth Township location over the location he initially planned to build in Minden.

Roads Super resigns

Accusations, or perceived accusations, against the Lutterworth Township Roads Superintendent resulted with him tendering his resignation at Thursday's council meeting.

Roads Superintendent Floyd Miller told council that a remark made by councillor Lisa Mercer at the May 4 council meeting and printed in the minutes indicated that he had called for four surveys without council's authorization.

Miller said the four surveys, carried out over a six-year time span, had all been authorized. "I think that it is ridiculous to put the likes of that in the minutes," he told council. He asked that a correction be printed in the minutes of Thursday's meeting, and when council refused, he left the room stating: "I'll be through in 30 days." A while later he returned to deliver his written resignation.

After listening to Miller's arguments, councillor Mercer said he has misinterpreted her remark. She noted that Miller's name was not mentioned in the remark, and said the criticism was aimed at council.

Mercer's remark stems from a letter written prior to 1980 indicating the township would no longer pay for any survey work. At the May 4 meeting she noted that four surveys, totalling more than $2,000, had been carried out since the letter was written.

Miller argued that since payment for these surveys ultimately comes through the roads department, people would interpret it as his fault.

Reeve Bill Valentine disagreed. He said it is this council and previous councils that are to blame. Councillor Elizabeth

Wright said, "I don't see how anyone could interpret it as your fault."

When Miller asked that a correction be printed in the next minutes, Mercer replied that this would not be necessary. "There is no need for a correction," she said, reiterating her point that the remark was not aimed at Miller.

This was the second resignation dealt with that night. Earlier in the meeting, Doug Hirstwood, Bylaw Enforcement Officer, told council he would be leaving in October. Since County Council has taken over responsibility for welfare, he said he can not foresee that there will be enough work to justify carrying a full-time employee for his duties. He also noted that new construction in the township has levelled off, reducing the need for his duties as building inspector.

Building starts at County office

Construction began last week on an addition to the Haliburton County Office which will provide for additional office space.

County Engineer Bill Obee said the 20-foot by 45-foot addition will provide enough space to bring all the engineering staff together on the main floor of the building. The single-story addition, which is being built out the back of the County building will eliminate the confusion caused by having staff spread out over three buildings.

Obee said the office was "bulging at the seams," making the addition necessary.

The project is expected to cost about $30,000 and be completed some time in the fall.

Construction has begun on the addition to the County office building.

Cottagers urge better water quality

Lake quality remains a high priority for members of the Canning Lake Property Owners' Association. That fact was obvious at the group's annual meeting held July 12 as just about every item on the agenda was related to protecting or enhancing the quality of the lake which brings them together.

In regard to the quality of the water, there was good news and bad news.

On the negative side, the members learned that the clarity of the lake water has decreased somewhat over last year. Tested with the Secchi Disc, a black and white disc which is lowered into the water to record the clarity, the meeting was told that the depth of visibility has been reduced from 16 feet to 13 feet. The decrease in water clarity is a result of increased algae growth.

The meeting was also told by one member of finding a dead loon washed up on shore. The bird had died as a result of a collision with a motor boat. All members were asked to stay clear of the areas preferred by the loons, especially with fast moving motorized boats.

On the positive side, the president of the organization, Jim Mitchell, proudly displayed a plaque presented to the association by the Ministry of Environment. The plaque acknowledges the association's ten year involvement in lake water quality testing and record keeping. The efforts of the individual members in this program assisted the MOE in charting a province-wide picture of the state of the environment.

The meeting was also told that MOE officials had recently tested the leachate originating from the Ingoldsby dump, which is located near to Canning Lake. Their report showed that of the 27 potential pollutants which the tests covered, the samples showed an across the board decrease in evidence of their presence from two years ago. In all cases, the samples are well below the MOE's acceptable guideline.

In other matters, the meeting was told that the cottage numbering system is now in place and the organization is now erecting additional directional signs to assist emergency services.

New Styrofoam marker buoys have also been installed in the lake.

Guest speaker for the meeting was the president of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers Associations (FOCA) Jean Anthon, a cottager on Mountain Lake. She spoke on a number of topics of interest to the organization.

She told the meeting that there had been four sightings of Gypsy Moths in the county, including one that she had discovered near her cottage. She had the caterpillar in a jar and passed it around so that individuals could get a closer look at the insect. She said the province had noted a 32% reduction in the moth infestation since it first started and suggested the increase in natural predators adverse weather and the use of BT spray by MNR had helped to stem the advance.

Anthon said the tent caterpillar is likely to pose a grater nuisance and threat to area forests over the next few years than the gypsy moth. She cautioned the property owners not to overreact to the tent caterpillar invasion, saying it was part of the natural cycle and when the growth of predators catches up with the caterpillars, they will be brought into check.

Anthon also cautioned property owners to be careful when undertaking any shoreline improvements or changes. Noting that such work can seriously damage the aquatic environment, she told the meeting that the Ministry of Natural Resources should be informed of any change planned on shoreline property.

Touching on a number of other items briefly, she told the meeting:

- FOCA is asking for a septic system certification each time a lakefront property is sold, to ensure that the system, is functioning properly or is brought up to standard.

- The association has successfully lobbied to have one advance poll scheduled for the Thanksgiving weekend.

- FOCA continues to press the government to have education taxes drawn from income tax rather than property tax, relieving the owner of a cottage from paying for education in two separate jurisdictions.

Anthon also asked the

The president of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers Associations, Jean Anthon, addresses the annual meeting of the Canning Lake Property Owners Association held July 13.

members of the association to consider contributing to the Haliburton Hospital Expansion Fund.

Before the election of officers was held, the members were reminded of the annual Fun Day scheduled for August 1 at the Ingoldsby Park beginning at 4 p.m.

A reminder was also circulated concerning the Fred Jones Bass Award. It was pointed out that there have been no entries over the past few years. "It is not necessary to catch a big Bass, just the biggest," the members were told. The bass must be caught in Canning Lake and can be weighed at Obie's General Store in Ingoldsby.

A special tribute was also paid to Roger Ashby, a long-time cottager on Canning Lake and supporter of the association. He served as the group's secretary for a number of years. Mr. Ashby sold his cottage earlier this year.

The executive elected for the coming year include: president Gary Kapac; vice-president Jim Ritchie; secretary (pro tem) Gary Kapac; treasurer Bruce Farmer; immediate past president Jim Mitchell; and directors John Dennie, Ted Heslop, Doug and Linda Howatt, Stephen Laakso, Morgan Loucks, Wes Lytle, Roger Mole, Ed Ramsdale, Bill Riddell, Jack Robson and Roly Wagg.

The meeting was held at the home of Bill Riddell.

Municipal politicians in attendance included Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Sinc Nesbitt, Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry and Snowdon Reeve Bob Vick.

Man injured in mishap

A 25-year-old Oshawa man sustained injuries in a single-car accident July 5 in Stanhope Township.

The accident, which caused an estimated $15,000 damage to the 1985 Chrysler driven by Daryl Fuselli, occurred on Highway 35 in Stanhope Township. Constable Mark Davis from the Minden OPP detachment investigated.

Busy week

In other police news, officers from the Minden detachment investigated 95 general occurrences and 14 traffic accidents during the week of July 6 to 12.

Thefts around the county during the week are as follows: two Dianna pellet rifles were stolen from Camp Kawabi on Hawk Lake; a brown plastic sign with the word "Homestead" was taken from Birch Narrows; a 12-foot aluminum boat was taken from Otter Lake; a Toshiba microwave oven, Pulser AM-FM radio, two flashlights, hair dryer, beach towels and ceiling fan were taken from Straggle Lake; and an RCA 16-inch colour television was taken from Straggle Lake.

New deputy

Sid Cooper has been appointed Deputy Reeve of the Township of Dysart et al. The appointment was approved by the Dysart council at its regular meeting July 13.

Cooper was a member of council, serving as councillor for Ward 4 for the past two terms.

The appointment was necessary following the resignation of Bill Davis from the Deputy's position. He resigned after accepting a full-time position on the Haliburton Ambulance Service, creating a conflict of interest situation.

The Ward 4 council seat was filled as well, with the appointment of Harold Bannon. He was the unsuccessful candidate for the deputy reeve's position in the last municipal election. Mr. Bannon had served for a number of years on Dysart municipal council.

Loosen up

The next time someone complains about a shortfall of new business development in Minden, point them in the direction of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications and ask them to lodge a complaint.

Minden residents should be upset about MTC guidelines regarding the Highway 35 bypass that have choked the breath out of a local businessman's plans to start up a car dealership here. Now it is apparent he is taking his business, along with his taxes and employment opportunities down the road to Lutterworth Township, where the regulations are not as tight.

Although it is next to impossible to get confirmation regarding what guidelines are actually in place for construction on the bypass, it has been said that only businesses providing food, fuel or accommodation will be allowed. Our attempts to learn if this is actually the case have spawned no results. Telephone calls to the MTC have been met with a fast and furious game of pass-the-buck, ending with 'he'll return your call.' Needless to say, our phonelines have not been overburdened with ministry employees scrambling to address this question.

While we can appreciate the desire to limit the number of businesses on the highway and the increased traffic congestion that comes with them, it seems that Minden has been singled out in this quest. All sorts of development are permitted to the north and south. However, when it comes to the short strip of Highway that runs through Minden, the ministry clamps down. This seems strange, since the bypass is the only section of the highway with four lanes, which, in terms of traffic flow, make it a more suitable location for business development.

In the past, Minden's downtown business owners have expressed concern that new business development has been slipping toward the bypass. Well, unless the ministry eases its controls, business development will be slipping even further away from the downtown core, to places north and south of town.

Good idea

The action taken by the Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Association to ensure upgrading of lakefront septic systems is carried out deserves some praise.

The federation is petitioning the government to implement a system of certifying septic systems prior to any sale of waterfront property. If the province agrees to the request, many cottagers will be faced with the expense of upgrading their systems in order to sell their properties.

It is encouraging to see a group petitioning the government for a program that will ultimately result in cleaner water, even though it comes at a cost to the members.

Throne speech addresses economy

- by Bill Scott, MP -

The four principles of responsible fiscal management set out in the October 1984 Throne Speech have been an essential part of an economic strategy that has resulted in lower interest rates, renewed investor confidence, and a job creation record that exceeds that of any other Western nation.

Principle: To Reduce the Growth of the Public Debt to No More Than the Growth of the Economy

Unchecked growth in the ratio of Gross Domestic Product (GDP) puts upward pressure on interest rates and threatens the economy's long-term growth prospects. It also means that interest payments on the government's debt consume a growing proportion of government expenditures and revenues. This leaves the government's fiscal position highly exposed to events beyond its control. It severely restricts the government's capacity to manage the economy effectively.

In the four years ending in 1984-85, the fiscal situation was out of control. Debt rose by 23.5 per cent per year during this period, as interest rates remained well in excess of the growth of the economy. The restraint program introduced in the fall of 1984 and continued in successive budgets has dramatically reduced this growth to an estimated 11.1 per cent in fiscal year 1987-88. With the policy framework now in place, the growth of the debt-to-GDP ratio will slow continuously over the medium term and stabilize by 1991-92.

Principle: To Achieve Continuing, Sizeable Year-Over-Year Reductions in the Budgetary Deficit.

Continuing reductions in the deficit are the key to stabilizing the debt-to-GDP ratio. The government began correcting the deficit problem in the fall of 1984. Since the deficit peaked in 1984-85 at $38.3 billion, strong deficit reduction action has contributed to a projected reduction in the federal deficit of over $9 billion by fiscal year 1987-88. Relative to the size of the economy, this represents a cut of 37 per cent in the federal deficit over three years.

The deficit is projected to continue to decline over the medium term, reaching $23.5 billion, or 3.4 per cent of GDP, by 1991-92. Relative to the size of the economy, this would be the lowest deficit realized since the mid-1970s.

Principle: To Ensure Substantial Year-Over-Year Reductions in Financial Requirements.

Financial requirements are the most comprehensive measure of the net borrowing demands the government puts directly on private capital markets. The lower these demands are, the more room there is for borrowers to raise the capital they need. After reaching $29.8 billion in 1984-85, financial requirements are projected to drop to $21.3 billion in 1987-88. Relative to GDP, this represents a decline of almost 40 per cent over three years. Over the medium term, financial requirements will show further substantial declines. By 1991-92, financial requirements are projected to decline to $12.7 billion. Expressed another way, the financial requirements will have fallen from 6.7 per cent of the GDP to 1.8 per cent.

Principle: To Make Expenditure Control and Good Management the Primary Focus of Fiscal Restraint.

Expenditures grew rapidly in the early 1980s. Federal spending relative to the size of the economy grew from 19.3 per cent of GDP in 1979-80 to 24.6 per cent in 1984-85. The actions introduced since 1984 have had a dramatic impact on reversing this trend. After growing by more than 14 per cent per year from the beginning of the decade through 1984-85, the rate of growth of program spending (total federal government spending excluding public debt servicing costs) has since been cut to just 3.3 per cent per year, on average, through 1987-88. This represents annual average declines in real program spending of roughly 1 per cent.

With continuing restraint, expenditure growth is projected to average a moderate 3.1 per cent per year over the medium term (1989-90 to 1991-92). The average inflation rate is also projected to average about 3 per cent per annum, implying little or no real growth in federal spending. The deficit will fall from 8.6 per cent of GDP in 1984-85 to 3.4 per cent in 1991-92, a decline of 5.2 percentage points. Of this, 3.9 percentage points, or three-quarters of deficit reduction, is the result of expenditure control. Federal spending by 1991-92 will have fallen from 24.6 per cent of GDP to 20.7 per cent, a decline of 3.9 percentage points, or 15 per cent.

What do you think about...

Brown Bomber

by Bill Kulas

There is a whole generation of seniors out there in reader land who as followers of boxing would be prepared to swear that Joe Louis was the best boxer that ever lived! My Dad, Nick Kulas, while living, was one of Louis' biggest boosters. Not only did Nick see Joe Louis in action several times, but they were friends outside of the ring. Many locals could attest to that since I have proudly shown my dad's priceless collection of personalized Joe Louis pictures to them.

Joseph Louis Barrow was born in Lafayette, Alabama, on May 13th, 1914, of Cherokee Indian stock. His family moved to Detroit and there Joe learned to box in a gymnasium. In 1934 he turned professional, and shortened his name to Joe Louis. Louis had a superb temperament in and out of the ring, remaining cool and calculating in the heat of battle. Each fist carried a knock out punch, earning him the nickname the "Brown Bomber".

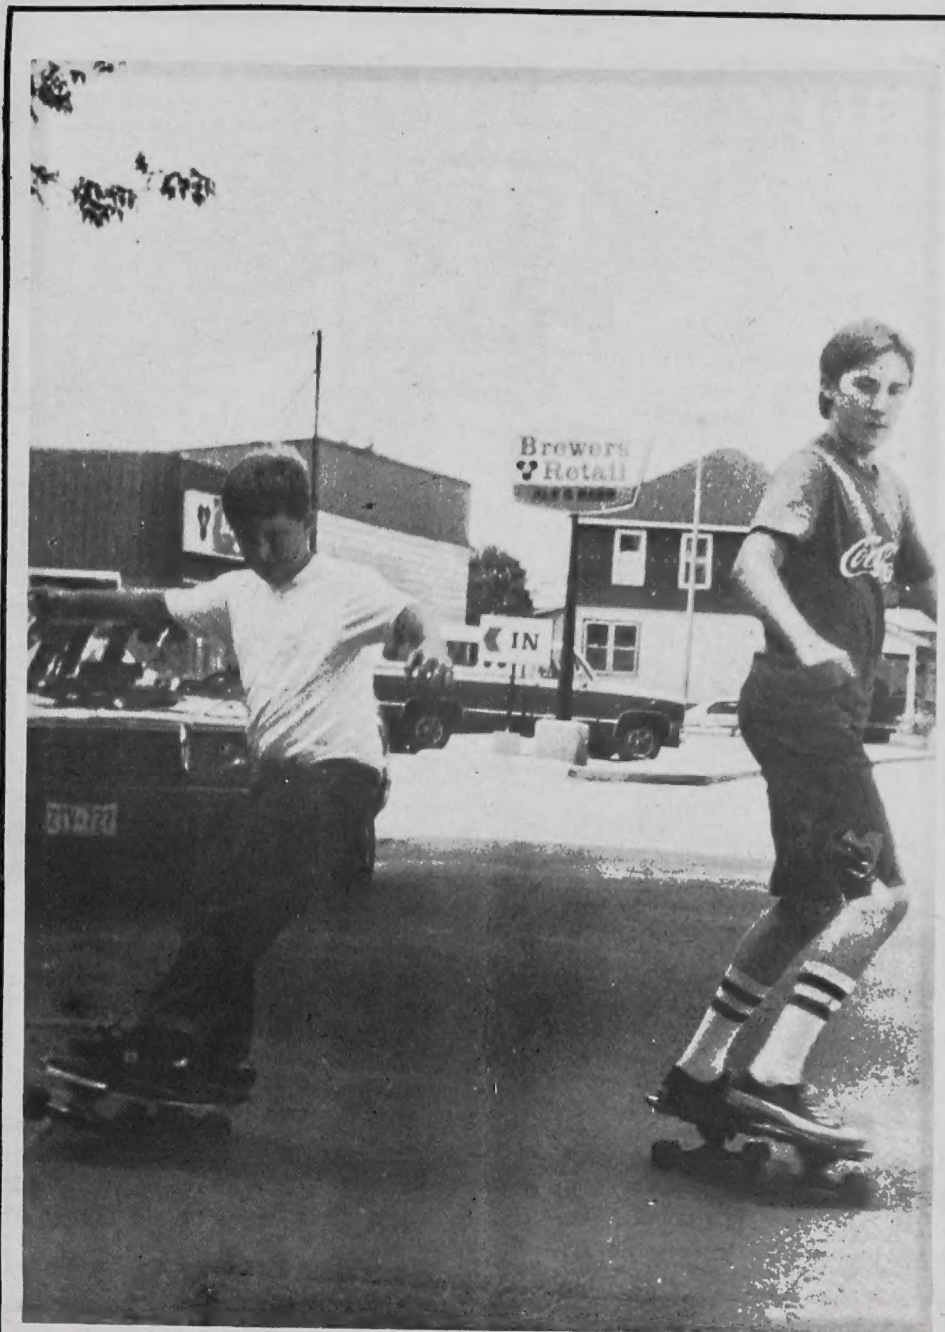

Louis proceeded to knock out two of the best heavyweights at the time, Max Baer and Primo Carnera before being shocked himself by an old timer by the name of Max Schmeling.

On June 22, 1937 Joe Louis became the second black man to win the world heavyweight championship by defeating James J. Braddock in Chicago. Between August 1937 and March 1942 Louis beat off 21 challenges. In 1938 in a revenge match, Joe Louis disposed of Max Schmeling, who, when he caught his ship back to Germany a few days later, was carried aboard on a stretcher.

Louis, who gave purses to navy and army relief during the war, served as a sergeant instructor, resuming his career in 1946. He won four defenses of his title, two against Jersey Joe Walcott. In 1949, Joe Louis announced his retirement with a perfect record of 25 wins.

Although he had earned almost 4.5 million dollars in the ring, unpaid income tax forced him to return to boxing. In October of 1951, Rocky Marciano defeated the "Brown Bomber", in the eighth round in New York City. Almost broke, Joe Louis added his name to the wrestling ring and finally became a host at a Las Vegas casino.

Joe Louis, the legend, died on April 12th, 1981. Joe Louis Arena, in Detroit, named in his honour, is a symbol of the love and admiration people around the world had for him.

Street surfers Jarrett Wright and Kyle Mann hit the streets of Minden last week.

Minden Park gets new name

Where is Harrington Park?

This is a question which would puzzle all but the most knowledgeable residents of Minden Township. Especially since, until recently, the public park has had no signs to inform users of its proper name.

Harrington Park is the strip of property on the west side of the Gull River across from the Minden Wildwater Preserve. And last week, signs were erected on the property bearing the park's proper name.

At the July 9 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships council, Parks Manager Brian Sisson relayed concerns from P.J. Harrington about the absence of signage. The property had been donated to the township in 1981 by the Harrington Estate on the condition that it be developed into a public park, bearing the name "Harrington Park."

Council immediately passed a resolution authorizing an addition to the present signs to acknowledge the proper name of the park.

Headline misleading: CHACE

Editor:

I would like to make it clear to your readers that the headline "CHACE expanding services" over a submitted article in last week's paper (July 13) was incorrect.

CHACE Inc. is in no way connected with the Village Children's Centre operated by Faith Aggett, and whose temporary, eight-week summer program (ending in August) was described in the article itself.

Currently the CHACE Board of Directors oversees the operation of the only licenced daycare services in Haliburton County. These include: 1) Private Home Daycare which began last year and serves children six weeks - 9 years of age in supervised private homes and, 2. CHACE Daycare Centre, on Prince Street, Minden which opened March 30th, 1987 and serves children 18 months - 6 years of age on a full-time or part-time basis.

Recently CHACE Inc. was given approval to offer subsidy for our daycare services to those families who qualify.

We invite the public and interested parents to learn more about our services and meet our daycare staff at our Open House, Friday, July 24, 9 a.m. - 12 noon at the Daycare Centre, Prince St., Minden. Call 286-4074 daytime, or 754-3238 evenings and weekends.

Nuisance fishermen are to blame for Lutterworth council's decision to stop up and close the road allowance providing access to Spar Lake Thursday.

On a request from a Spar Lake resident, whose property abutts the road allowance, council unanimously agreed to close up the access. Through discussion it was learned that since the lake has been stocked by the Ministry of Natural Resources, it has become an attractive fishing spot. When anglers discovered a creek that runs along the road allowance, they began using it as an access point for their boats.

Councillor Carol Puffer said she can understand the resident's annoyance when "all of a sudden there are strangers walking across their property."

Cottagers boost fund

The Haliburton Hospital Expansion Fund will be receiving a boost from area cottagers, as the various associations contribute to the drive.

At the annual meeting of the Mountain Lake Property Owners Association on July 9, members voted to contribute $200 to the fund. Initially, the executive had recommended a donation of $100, but after some discussion the members decided to double that amount. In addition, Mountain Lake will be making a donation of $100 to the Minden Hospital.

Jean Anthon, President of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers' Associations (FOCA) said most cottage associations seem interested in contributing to the fund. She said she has made presentations to the Canning Lake and South Lake associations and both showed a good interest. She has also mailed letters to the other area cottage associations, but has yet to hear back from them, she said.

Planned expansions to the hospital call for 18 additional continuous-care beds, as well as other necessary modifications to the present facility. Anthon says that anyone who has found themselves in a situation where hospitalization is needed can appreciate the value of an improved facility.

For this reason, she said FOCA is encouraging associations to support the fund. This can be done through a direct donation from the association, or by setting up donation boxes at any association functions.

Correction

On July 4 guests of Miner's Bay Lodge presented three paintings to Lodge owners Dave, Anna, Bill, Mary and Bob Wunker during a 50th anniversary celebration of the lodge.

A caption beneath a photograph in last week's Times incorrectly indicated the artists had donated the paintings. We apologise for this error.

Anglers cause of closure

Nuisance fishermen are to blame for Lutterworth council's decision to stop up and close the road allowance providing access to Spar Lake Thursday.

On a request from a Spar Lake resident, whose property abutts the road allowance, council unanimously agreed to close up the access. Through discussion it was learned that since the lake has been stocked by the Ministry of Natural Resources, it has become an attractive fishing spot. When anglers discovered a creek that runs along the road allowance, they began using it as an access point for their boats.

Building stats bring surprise

Sometimes it is difficult to get a true picture of the amount of new construction in an area from statistics on building permits issued, Lutterworth council learned Thursday.

In presenting his semi-annual report on building activity, Bylaw Enforcement Officer Doug Hirstwood told council the number of permits issued showed no increase over last year's figures. Surprised at the apparent shortage of new construction, councillor Elizabeth Wright asked if the report was complete, noting that her name was not on the list of those who received building permits.

To this, Hirstwood replied that his office had not received an application for a permit for the addition to Wright's residence.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Municipal Clerk-Treasurer Bev Millar completed her last day of work for the township Friday. To mark the occasion, township roads superintendent Clayton Cameron took her on a tour through the downtown Minden area in a horse-drawn cart. The clerk announced her resignation earlier this summer and will be moving to the Oshawa area.

Orange Grove gets nod

Orange Grove Resort can proceed with plans to build a new residential building after Anson, Hindon and Minden council gave approval in principle at its July 9 meeting.

Jan Richmond, owner of the Anson Township resort, outlined the proposal for the building to council. Some concern was expressed by council that there might not be enough room for an additional building on the lot. However, Richmond assured that there is enough vacant space to accommodate the building. The proposal also calls for renovations to the existing rental units on the property.

Council's approval is subject to the completion of a site plan and drawings, the purchase of the unflooded shore road allowance abutting the property and approval of a minor variance by the Committee of Adjustments.

Mall expansion

Council showed no hesitation in approving in principle a plan to construct a mezzanine level to the Valu-mart Mall on Highway 35 after a presentation from mall owner Don Kelly.

Kelly explained he had been approached by a potential tenant who requested the addition. He said the addition of a mezzanine level to the mall will create additional space and enhance the appearance of the building.

Council's approval of the project is conditional on approval from the Ministry of Labour and the Fire Marshall's Office.

Supports builder

Following a lengthy discussion with Minden Township property owner Gary Warburton regarding problems he says he has encountered since starting construction on his property, council voted to support Chief Building Officer Peter Oomen in the action now before the courts. Warburton has been charged with building without a permit.

Addition

Council has given its approval in principle to the proposal of John Pure to build an addition to his existing dental clinic on Bobcaygeon Road. Approval is subject to council's review of site plan drawings.

County office

A proposed expansion to the county offices was given approval in principle by Anson, Hindon and Minden council. Final approval is subject to a review of site plan drawings.

Donations down

Organizers satisfied

Although the participation in this year's Red Cross blood donor clinic in Haliburton Village was down some from last year, chairman Jim Holmes says he is not disappointed with the turnout.

With 234 people attending last Tuesday's clinic at the Haliburton Legion, participation was down slightly from last year's 242. However, the recent heat wave created a high percentage of deferrals this year, bringing the actual number of donors down to 198.

Because of the encouraging response to donor cards circulated at the Haliburton Home Show, Holmes had been hoping to surpass 300 donors this year. Although the clinic fell well short of this goal, Holmes said the Red Cross workers from Toronto were satisfied with the response to the clinic.

Holmes said the prolonged heat spell just prior to Tuesday's clinic resulted in many people being on medication for allergies or other ailments that might be worsened by the heat. This caused the high number of deferrals. And although the heat wave had snapped by Tuesday, he feels the week of unbearable weather just prior to the clinic hampered the turnout.

In a bid to boost participation for next year, Holmes said the Red Cross will be concentrating on better publicity. Last year's successful clinic received much media attention because it was the first one after almost a decade without any blood donor clinics in the area.

County takes step toward reassessment

Haliburton County will be undergoing an assessment equity study over the next few years to determine the degree of inequities among the various property classes.

At Wednesday's County Council meeting, a resolution to request the Regional Assessment Office to conduct the study received unanimous support from council members.

The study is the first step in having a full-scale property reassessment conducted throughout the county. If required, a follow-up study -- a 'tax impact study' -- will provide council with detailed information regarding impacts the proposed reassessment would carry.

Council's request for a study was made under two sections of the Assessment Act, providing for much flexibility once the study is completed. Under Section 70 of the Act, the county could eventually see local taxes based on full market value, while section 63 would provide equalization of assessments based on a portion of market value.

Although council has requested the study, it has made no commitment to following through on a reassessment. Once the study is completed, council can decide to either take no action or request that a tax impact study be completed. If the second option is chosen, it again has the option of rejecting the study or going ahead with the reassessment.

Regional Assessment Commissioner J.R. Yeoman was on hand at Wednesday's meeting to address questions and provide highlights on the annual report by the assessment office.

Yeoman noted that the number of business tenancies in the county had increased from 590 in 1985 to 640 in 1986. During the same time period, the number of assessable residential units increased slightly from 26,765 to 27,000. Other assessable properties have increased by similar proportions.

Dixie Lee trounces Orillia

by Jim Milne

Dixie Lee rolled over Orillia City last Sunday, July 12, in Minden by a score of 11-3. Playing in the intense heat of mid-afternoon with three substitutes for their starting eleven, the home team led 4-0 at the end of the first half. Orillia had no substitutes and must have been completely deflated when Dixie Lee opened the second half with another goal. At that point the referee intervened. He awarded a penalty kick to Orillia on a questionable hand ball and Orillia shortly added a good goal to close the score to the short end of 5-2.

Neither Orillia nor the referee could interrupt Dixie Lee's flow for long. From that point they scored six and allowed one.

The scoring plays were too numerous to describe in detail.

Hans Walter had a great afternoon although he was well served by the wingers. He scored 7 goals while Shaun Chapman, Chris Carl, Eoin Ross and Tim Haxton each got one.

Dixie Lee now have a modest winning streak of 3 games. They have 11 points out of 20 from 5 wins and 1 tie against 4 losses. This winning stretch will be sorely tested against Parry Sound on Sunday, July 19. In a home game against Parry Sound early in June, Dixie Lee lost 5-2. On the other hand, they have surprised Parry Sound a number of times before. In last year's playoff tournament and in their first meeting in 1982 following Parry Sound's championship year, they came out on top.

Developer to get information

After a lengthy struggle with the Lutterworth Township Planner, Robert Marsh will finally be getting the information necessary to proceed with plans for an apartment building, council assured at Thursday's meeting.

Marsh, who plans to build a six-unit apartment building at the junction of Highways 35 and 121, said poor communications from Planner John McDermott, have compounded the difficulty of preparing a site plan. He said McDermott, who works through the firm of Totten Sims and Hubicki, has made three big mistakes which have forced Marsh to redraft plans that he says should only need one draft.

Marsh said he is tired of doing things twice. "All I want is for you to ask Mr. McDermott what he wants and I'll do it."

Marsh also questioned the most recent requirement from McDermott, which called for a hydrogeologist's report of the property. He said this would involve boring a number of holes in the ground at a cost of $3,500. The only thing to be gained from this would be to find out if there is enough water to serve the apartments, he said. "This seems ridiculous," he said. "For the same price, I can drill a well."

The site plan was required by council in order to weigh the merits of changing the zoning of the property. The site is now zoned rural. This would have to be changed in order to accommodate multiple residential units.

Marsh also presented council with a site inspection, completed by a geologist with Snowdon Resources. The report on this inspection indicates the building site is on a gravel base, which Marsh says makes a perfect foundation.

While Reeve Bill Valentine agreed the report is impressive, he questioned the geologist's qualifications. Beneath the signature on the report is the abbreviation P. Geol. Valentine said he does not know what that stands for.

Hustlers win 2

The Rockcliffe Hustlers posted two wins last week in the Inter-County Baseball league. The Minden team defeated the Haliburton Juniors in both contests.

The first win came Tuesday night in Haliburton where the Hustlers edged their hosts 4-2.

Back on home turf Thursday evening, the Hustlers managed a 4-3 win over the visiting Juniors.

Hustlers also picked up the consolation championship at the Harcourt ball tournament July 11.

The team plays this Thursday evening at the Minden diamond. Game time is 8 p.m.

Ladies edged twice

The Minden Dixie Lee Ladies lost two games during action in the county Softball League this past week. The team dropped a 21 to 7 decision to Haliburton Seniors Thursday night. Betty Whiteway and Jody Ainsworth led the Seniors attack.

On Wednesday, the Dixie Lee ladies played a tighter game, but still came up on the short end of a 10-9 score when they faced the Haliburton Juniors. Big bats for Dixie Lee included Helen Burk and Toos Reid. Heavy hitters for Haliburton included Marla MacNaull and Tracey Harrison. Nelda Cully was the pitcher for both Minden contests.

Many new books

by Joel Levis

A veritable cornucopia awaits at the county library. Not only that but there's a lot of new books there too! As we move into the most recent mid-summer of our lives - 1987 style - there's a whole series of very special titles awaiting you at the closest branch of the Haliburton County Public Library, just the answer when the bugs are beating themselves into a feeding frenzy at the screen door.

Let's start with Uneasy Lies the Head, the latest in a long line of winners by Walter Stewart. Now under normal circumstances, one could hardly - in all charity - recommend a book on the ever-increasing supply of Crown corporations as summer reading but when the author is none other than Walter Stewart, you have to make an exception. He's taken a look at the over 400 "Crowns" (the federal level alone) ranging from Atomic Energy of Canada Limited (AECL) to everyone's old favourite 103912 Canada Inc. which slaves away doing heaven knows what for you and me and if the climate is just right and the moon is in the right phase, perhaps even showing the odd profit although such success is frowned upon.

Stewart's unique way of viewing the world comes through in his commentary of Canada Post: "When Canada Post unveiled its plan to reorganize its affairs late in 1986, it came up with a new, though so far unofficial motto: 'Like it or lump it' ". Then there is Via Rail: "Via trains do not run late only in the winter time. They run late in the summer and in the spring and fall. A crock for all seasons"! How can you lose?

Now, if you don't get enough chuckles from that one, try How to be Funny by Steve Allen who himself admits that this one will not turn you into a new Johnny Carson or even make you over into a famous stand-up comic. Although it may help you to change your social outlook or give you the edge in picking up girls. What-ever.

Weight Lifting & Body Building: Total Fitness for Men & Women by D.D. Macchia sets out everything that anyone needs to know about getting their body into useful physical shape through the lifting of weights and other neat activities. Whether you are a beginner or perhaps more advanced along the rocky road to the body beautiful stage of the process, this will further your insight into the big picture and the establishment of goals and objectives. Great reading at area libraries prefer to think about those with Rambo-like tendencies rather than try to copy them. The usual mix of electronic frigates, phoney sea voyages, drugs, terrorism, naval tragedies, et al.

The Final Planet by Andrew Greeley sees a space ship loaded to the plimsol line with religious folk looking for a new home but who won't invade or won't settle into the neighbourhood unless they have an invitation. So when they find this new planet and their ship is only good for one last successful landing, they have a real problem on their hands because the place looks really good. Too bad the scout they sent down to check it out also thinks that it is a super place ... too bad he can't figure out just what is wrong.

And now for something completely different, Joan Baez has written a new book called And a Voice to Sing With with the result that she has been interviewed by everyone from Vicki Gabereau to some Peter Gzowski clone - although she has not made an appearance on Fresh Air to date. The story (until now) traces her life through the Viet Nam years, the historic battle with Jane Fonda - on non-aerobic lines no doubt - her buddy-buddy relationship with Bob Dylan among others and her career which is now hopefully on an upward swing.

Meanwhile back at the lake, Bob Phillips' The Cottager's Handbook is going to tell you whatever you need to know about survival out at the lake from docks to burglars, locks to northern lights and fish to mushrooms. Lots of good information here - plus a laugh or ten - about life in the "cottage lane" as it were.

Louis L'Amour's The Haunted Mesa is just the latest thing for those who get a charge out of the world's longest line of westerns to ever come down the pike. Ideal for those who will be happy to get either a long little doggy or a short one for that matter.

Finally, Margaret Drabble has turned her unique sense of humour into high gear with The Radiant Way, a study of the life of England under Margaret Thatcher. Important and yet serious, there is a message woven among the fabric of activities that the Iron Maiden has undertaken over the years. Some people call it a comic-tragedy while others prefer to refer to it as simply the best book of the decade. You decide.

This is just the beginning of what new titles there are in store for you at your closest branch of Haliburton County Public Library. Discover why there is so much more waiting for you at the nine branches of Haliburton County Public Library.

Frost Centre hosts 'Wildlife '87' July 30

The Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre, in Dorset, celebrates "Wildlife '87" by hosting its annual open house on July 30, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Each year over 10,000 people from all over Ontario visit the Frost Centre. During their stay, Frost Centre visitors participate in a wide variety of programs interpreting natural resources management. On July 30, the Frost Centre opens its doors to the general public, providing an opportunity to participate in a number of programs free of charge.

Events planned for the day begin at 10 a.m. with an official welcome from Don White, the Frost Centre Director. The day will include introductory tours every hour and a variety of short programs including talks, audio visual presentations, outdoor activities and games, focusing on wildlife and natural resources management. Over the noon hour there will be a barbecue with hot-dogs and hamburgers available at a nominal charge.

Rain forest destruction affects all of us

During the 45 minutes it took to give a slide presentation at the Minden arena auditorium Saturday night, more than one thousand acres of rain forest were destroyed, said Ron Ridout.

Ridout, a well-known birder and audio-visual specialist with the Metro Conservation Authority, called the tropical rain forest "the most beautiful and complex ecosystem on our planet." He was urging Saturday's small audience to help "save a small piece of the green canopy" with donations to the World Wildlife Fund.

About 50 people were on hand for the elaborate slide presentation featuring birds, plants and wildlife native to the tropical rain forests of Costa Rica. The slide show was given in Minden at the request of Robert Bateman, an artist, naturalist and birder in his own right.

The steady, rapid loss of rain forests around the world is one of the major problems facing the planet today, Ridout said. North Americans should have a keen interest in the preservation of rain forests for a number of important reasons, he said. Because of their impact on world climate, he said once the rain forests are wiped out, North America will like become a desert.

Ridout says these forests, although quite distant from Canada, house a number of migratory birds that help protect our forests from extensive insect damage. For example, he noted that a number of species of warblers, which control populations of caterpillars in Canada, winter in these rain forests.

Once the rain forests are gone, the warblers are gone too. This would carry a tremendous economic impact on Canadian economy through the loss of valuable timber, he said.

The steady loss of rain forests in Costa Rica is largely due to beef farming, he said. Farmers, who are raising cattle mainly for North American consumption, will clear a patch of the forest, he said. Once cleared, these patches provide good grazing for only two to three years before the weeds take over. At that point, the farmers clear a new patch and start over again, taking yet more rain forests with them.

It is a continuous chain of destruction, "We're trying to break that chain. We're trying to preserve the valley."

While Costa Rica has a progressive government with a desire to protect the forests, it does not have the finances to do it alone. The Country has set up a national preserve in the Monta Verde Valley, but this encompasses only a small part of the total rain forest.

This is where the World Wildlife Fund comes into play. Ridout said a donation of $25 is enough to buy one acre of forest land. He said a great deal of the forest has already been purchased, but there is still much that is in danger.

"We've stepped in before the settlers did too much damage," said Ridout. The goal now is to purchase the rest of the property from the absentee landowners.

While few of those in attendance at Saturday's show, had the opportunity to experience first hand the beauty of these forests, Ridout said they house many species of plants and animals which directly benefit us.

He also notes there is great potential for future benefits if the elimination of these forests can be stopped. Although the slide show featured hundreds of species of animals, he said man is yet unaware of the largest portion of the game pool in these forests. He said only about 20 per cent of the wildlife which exist solely in these rain forests are known by man.

Again urging those present to contribute to the fund, he said it gives a real special feeling to sacrifice one luxury to save an acre of rain forest.

12 Mile Lake pines

Sweet and juicy... summer

The sweet and juicy Ontario peach enjoyed a varied and colourful history prior to reaching our shores. Foodland Ontario has uncovered some interesting tidbits:

The peach is thought to have originated in China and over the centuries the people of the Orient have attributed miraculous powers to the fruit. Large peaches, those lengthened to a point or tinged with a red blush on one side are all regarded by the Chinese as symbols of a long life.

In China, the peach flower is the trademark of a lady of dubious virtue so it's considered unwise to plant a peach tree outside the bedroom window of a young girl, in case she grows up with a "peach flower heart".

An Ontario peach makes a tasty summertime snack but in Marco Polo's time you and three friends could enjoy a meal-sized peach. The 13th century explorer reported seeing in Ch'ang-shai, China, peaches "weighing fully two small pounds apiece."

Peach trees were introduced, somewhat unsuccessfully, to England in 1562. In A New Orchard and Garden, written by William Lawson in 1618, the amateur horticulturalist was warned, "Meddle not with Apricoekes nor Peaches ... which will not like our cold parts unless they be helped

Be cautious with meat sold by itinerant peddlers

Consumers sold frozen meat out of the back of a car may be buying "a pig in a poke" instead of pork chops, says Roberta Allan.

"What can anyone possibly know about the quality or dollar value of box loads of meat sitting in someone's trunk?" asks Allan, a consumer advisor with the Ontario Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations (MCCR). "Has it stayed frozen? What grade or quality is it? Where did it come from? A lot of these sellers don't even give company addresses."

Traditionally the domain of brushes, cooking utensils, vacuums and knick-knacks, the door-to-door industry recently added portion-packed frozen meats to its growing list of wares. It wasn't long before consumers started reporting problems with these sales to the ministry.

People have been dissatisfied with the quality of the meats, some feel quantities were misrepresented and others realized too late the purchase was far from "the buy of the century" touted by the seller, Allan says.

These back seat meat deals can cost $300 to $600. Full payment is generally due on the spot and delivery involves a few quick trips between the car trunk and the buyer's freezer. At that point, the sale is closed and customers rarely have a chance to get their money back, Allan says.

Consumer protection legislation does allow some transactions involving more than $50 to be cancelled within two clear working days if they were signed in your home. But this only applies when payment or delivery is to take place in the future. If the transaction was completed on the spot, the "cooling off period" does not apply.

"A word of warning about paying with a credit card—it is the same as cash or a cheque under consumer law," Allan says. "People often think credit card purchases constitute future payment, allowing them to take advantage of the cooling off legislation. Not so. Nor can you normally put a stop payment on a credit card charge."

High pressure and questionable sales pitches were among the complaints commonly cited in recent letters to MCCR.

The sellers often claim they can offer fabulous prices because large orders have been cancelled and the meat must be sold in a hurry. In some versions of this tale, the woeful salesperson will have to pay for the shipment if it's not sold.

"Unfortunately some people find lines like that easier to swallow than the steaks they end up buying," Allan says. "Without with some reflex of Sunne."

Although the records say that the peach was introduced to England in 1562, rumour has it that 400 years King John I died following an over-indulgence of the delectable fruit.

Another monarch who loved peaches was the renowned gourmand King Louis XIV of France. He once granted a pension to a supplier of particularly fine peaches.

Missionaries who came to the New World from Spain in the 16th century planted peach trees in South Carolina and Florida, so when the first colonists arrived they found flourishing peach orchards along the south Atlantic coast.

Writing in The Travelling Bachelor, James Fenimore Cooper says of peaches that they "leave behind a warm, rich and delicious taste, that I can only liken in its effects to that which you call the bouquet of a glass of Romance."

According to that gourmet "bible" Larousse Gastronomique, peaches grown against a sheltered wall are bigger, juicier and more fragrant than those grown in the open. Perhaps that's why 90% of Ontario's peaches are produced in the Niagara region, in the shelter of the province's own giant garden wall—the Niagara Escarpment.

CHACE holds open house

- submitted -

Are you a working parent or a parent who for other reasons is looking for quality care for your preschooler on a full-time or part-time basis? Come to the Open House at CHACE Daycare Centre on Prince St., Minden Friday, July 24 9 a.m. - noon. Meet the new supervisor Elaine Karnovsky and staffer Barbara Smith. Members of the CHACE Board of Directors will be available to give you first hand information about the policies and programs of the centre and show you around the government licenced facility.

What makes CHACE Daycare Centre unique in the spectrum of child care arrangements currently available to families in Haliburton County? There are several points to consider. As the only licenced day-care facility in the county parents can be assured that the building, the staffing, the program etc. meet the standards of the Day Nurseries Act of the Ministry of Community and Social Services (COMSOC). CHACE is also required to carry adequate insurance coverage in the event of

CHACE Inc. is a registered non-profit organization with a volunteer Board of Directors made up of concerned citizens (who are also parents). It has been able to meet the requirements of the ministry which enable it to offer daycare subsidy to families that qualify. Assessments are done locally by Steve Fox of the ministry.

As an agency, CHACE receives the support of COMSOC in several important ways. It has received start-up funds from the ministry to complete renovations to the Prince St. building, and purchase the toys, books and equipment needed to offer a quality program. Recently it has been granted an additional $5,000 to assist in the purchase of outdoor playground equipment for the Daycare Centre. In addition the Early Childhood Consultant of COMSOC works closely with the CHACE board to help set up policies for the daycare centre which will benefit the children, the parents, the staff and the community.

Ask a Board member who has left yet another late-night meeting if they ever thought it would be so difficult to balance family needs, staff needs and the economic reality of running a business and the answer would be a resounding "No"! Various policies have undergone some revision in this initial start-up period, but CHACE now has a set of policies which will work for parents and the agency. An example is the sickness policy. Children who show symptoms such as rash, fever, diarrhoea are asked to be kept at home. A sick child will recover more quickly with one-on-one attention and rest at home. While recognizing the dilemma a sick child can create for the working parent, common sense says CHACE must strive to maintain the health of all children at the centre and ensure staff can give equal attention to each child.

Another recent revision involved the number of days per week a child must be registered and the notice a parent must give the centre of any changes in schedule. What may seem like a simple decision involved the Board in questions such as "What effect does constantly fluctuating enrollment have on the children (who do best with familiar playmates, and routine) on the staff (who need to establish relationships with each child and each group of children) and the Agency (who needs to meet regulations and pay the bills)? In the end CHACE decided a child must register for a minimum of two days per week, and parents must give a two week notice of any schedule change.

Someone once said "Daycare is a business, but a business like no other." Being involved in providing quality daycare in the community has been a long-range goal of CHACE which has become a reality. Come and talk with the Board and staff and find out what they can do for you.

Minden area piano student Nicholas Holliday-Rhodes was one of the outstanding performers at this year's Hastings Music Festival. Questionable meat question you could get as good a deal or better from an established, reputable retailer with a permanent place of business. There's something reassuring about meat counters that can't drive off, never to be seen again."

Few of the vendors involved in these sales carry any sort of permits or concrete identification. Unhappy customers with only post office boxes or phone numbers to go by may try for months to contact the companies involved. Letters and mess involved. Letters and messages rarely get any response even when they're from ministry staff.

Mediation services and advice are available from the ministry's Consumer Services Bureaus located throughout the province. Complaints about door-to-door meat sales or any other consumer transaction should be referred to the nearest bureau.

Allan points out the ministry must be able to locate the company and clearly establish its involvement in illegal sales practices before taking any action beyond attempting mediation.

"We can try to negotiate with the company on your behalf, but it's quite possible your only recourse will be to small claims court," Allan explains. "And even then, you'll have to have the company's proper address."

Companies selling prepackaged meats should not be confused with freezer order firms which sell large orders of food, generally through regular payment plans. According to Allan, many of these "food freezer" companies are well established in Ontario and have been working with the ministry to rid their industry of unethical operators.

The firms have helped enhance consumer protection by agreeing to use standard contracts, listing all pertinent information such as weights, cuts of meat, detailed costs, financing charges and other important items.

Vegetables summer favourites

"A Book of Verses underneath the Bough

A Jug of Wine, a Loaf of Bread -- and Thou..."

...were enough to transform Persian poet Omar Khayyam's wilderness into "Paradise enow". What a shame Omar wasn't able to get his hands on some fresh Ontario summer produce. The fresh flavour of Ontario field tomatoes, the irresistible aroma of ripe peppers, the sweet taste of newly picked corn, and a selection of juicy, sun-ripened Ontario fruits would have turned his bread-and-wine snack into a feast fit for a king.

Foodland Ontario has discovered that the taste of summer may mean different things to different people, but everyone has a firm favourite.

Joe Cote, host of CBC Radio's early show, Metro Morning, is a purist when it comes to food, admitting to using fresh peaches in his Fuzzy Navels. But, he adds emphatically, "the taste of summer is Ontario field tomatoes smothered in my own pesto sauce. Unfortunately I have to 'import' the pine nuts but I grow my own basil and garlic."

Martha Gibson, co-star with real-life husband Louis del Grande of CBC's Seeing Things, sums up her favourite summer taste in just three words: "Roasted fresh corn." Martha prepares her corn using a unique method she learned at a Mennonite corn roast. The corn is soaked, husk and all, in salted water, then is drained and cooked on the barbecue. Cooking the corn this way, before shucking, makes it extra juicy and flavoursome.

Principal dancer with the National Ballet of Canada, Veronica Tennant, favours corn particularly if she's cooking for a crowd, and, like most lovers of good food, knows that, very often, the simplest of dishes can be the most impressive.

"We entertain a lot of visiting dancers and choreographers from Europe," Veronica told Foodland Ontario, "and there's nothing people enjoy more than fresh corn. You just have to bring out a huge bowlful covered with butter and they love it."

To John Neville, director of the Stratford Theatre Festival, the quintessential summer taste is simple though delicious: "I love brand new boiled potatoes served with butter and fresh mint from the garden."

Sarah Waxman, cookbook writer and restaurant reviewer, and wife of actor Al Waxman has a good piece of advice for hot weather cooks: "In the summer you need a smaller amount of food, but (it needs to be) very flavourful. If you satisfy the flavour quotient you don't need the bulk."

Ernst Walder, executive chef of Ramada Hotels, agrees that summer food should be simple and suggests a brochette of fresh vegetables - chunks of zucchini, corn, tomatoes and peppers threaded on a skewer - cooked on the barbecue.

Whatever you choose, Ontario summer produce adds a refreshing sparkle to any warm weather menu. The stores are packed at this time of year with the pick of the province's crop. Select your summer favourites then try these fresh-tasting recipes from Foodland Ontario.

Herb-buttered corn-on-the-cob

Just a hint of herbs heightens the sweet taste of a summertime favourite. As well, this no-fuss recipe is suitable for the barbecue, microwave or oven.

1/4 cup butter, softened
1/4 tsp. dried rosemary, crushed

1/4 tsp. dried marjoram
1/4 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
4 ears of corn, husked

In small bowl, cream together butter, rosemary, marjoram, salt and pepper. Spread evenly over corn.

To barbecue: Wrap in foil. Place over hot barbecue coals and cook, turning occasionally, for about 20 minutes or until tender. Makes 4 servings.

To microwave: Wrap buttered corn in wax paper, twisting ends to seal. Cook on high power for about 8 minutes or until tender, turning once.

To oven-bake: Bake foil-wrapped buttered corn at 375 degrees F (190 degrees C) for about 30 minutes or until tender. Preparation time: 8 minutes. Cooking time: barbecue: 20 minutes, microwave: 8 minutes, oven: 30 minutes.

"With all the downfall of our teenage group being reported, I think it is commendable that these kids are giving up their social life to work for the summer in a laundromat which is hot and heavy. And this is where they earn the money for their tuition for the fall. There are some fifteen now from many parts of Ontario, sharing accommodation. Great to be working with them at Minden Laundromat," says Marie Dennie.

We are pleased to report that Johann Beattie is home again and feeling much better.

Recent guests with Mrs. Lyman Cox were Mr. and Mrs. Reg Cowan and family of Haxby of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Guy and children of Chatham.

All good wishes to these people who may be under the weather, Janet Horsley, Doug McKelvey, Garwood Stevenson and Hank Penrose.

Mrs. Linda and Robin Barbary of Mississauga were guests for a few days with her mother Nell Miscio. Linda and Robin just returned from ten days in Bermuda visiting relatives.

Lisa Bagshaw, Terry Fearrey and Carrie Burgess went to Toronto recently to see a Blue Jay Game and had a great time.

Sincere sympathy goes to Nellie King on the death of her brother-in-law Nelson Crittendon.

Dr. and Mrs. S. Dawson and Paul have his mother from Agincourt visiting them.

Recently Mrs. Phil Robinson was in Lindsay to visit Ellen Clayton.

Thanks to the family of Ruby and Carl Francis, who helped celebrate their 45th wedding anniversary and home were Jim, Diane, Erin, Sherry Francis of Peterborough, Helen and Gordon Rogers of Oshawa, Tom and Barbara Francis of Little Britain, Harry, Terry, Sean, Renee Francis of Orillia, Dave, Carol, Terry and Kevin Francis of Orono, Judy and Gordon Albert of Ottawa, Anne Francis of Camp Wanaketa, Brenda, Howie, Matthew, Michael and Diane MacLennan of Toronto, Ronnie, Ken, Paul and Tammy Nicholson of Bowmanville. One granddaughter Connie Francis, was unable to attend. Also present were nephew and wife Bill and Penny Hanthorn of Sudbury.

Irene and Sandy Stewart wish to thank their many relatives and friends including M.P. Bill Scott and M.P.P. John Eakins for their kind thoughts and best wishes by way of phone calls, certificates, letters, cards, and flowers on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. Irene is ill and confined to Extendedcare Haliburton and Sandy has failing eye sight due to side effects from arthritic medication.

Tammy and Dave Drysdale of Toronto visited her grandmother, Mrs. Vivian Kernohan for a few days recently.

Last Monday night there was a diabetic clinic at the Anglican Parish Hall and this was well attended with Dr. Dawson, Margaret Graham and Rosie Kadwell giving many facts. Another clinic is planned for August 9 and 10 at Haliburton County Health Unit. Call 457-1391 for details.

Sherry and Renee Francis stayed last week with Ruby and Carl Francis.

Another mistake as we mentioned illness of Bruce Scribner, sorry about that but guess I'm not as perfect as I thought!

Bernice and Orville Francis, Ruby and Carl Francis, May Hicks, Helen and Gordon Rogers attended the wedding of Michael Francis of Lindsay and Glenna Wright in Sudbury this last weekend.

All good birthday wishes to Amelia Good at Hyland Crest whose birthday is July 19.

Minden Legion Branch 636 are having a Yard and Baking Sale at the old I.G.A. August 1, 2 and 3 and appreciate articles for this.

There is to be a Jack and Jill Dance for Bill Simmerman and Marilyn Walker this Friday, July 24th, at Recreation Centre upstairs.

A birthday party was held for Gladys Kellett Wruth on Sunday, July 5th, at the home of her son Gareth. Gladys was so surprised when she arrived to see her six grandchildren with their families and many nieces and nephews. Many happy returns of the day!

Who Is To Blame?

We read in the papers and hear on the air
Of killing and stealing and crime everywhere.
We sigh and say, as we notice the trend,
"This young generation ... where will it all end?"
But can we be sure that it's their fault alone,
That maybe a part of it isn't our own?
Are we less guilty, who place in their way
Too many things that lead them astray?
Too much money, too much idle time;
Too many movies of passion and crime;
Too many books not fit to be read,
Too much evil in what they hear said;
Too many children encouraged to roam,
Too many parents who won't stay home.
Kids don't make the movies,
They don't write the books,
They don't paint gay pictures
Of gangsters and crooks;
They don't make the liquor, they don't run the bars;
They don't make the laws and
They don't sell the cars;
They don't peddle the drugs that addle the brain -
That's all done by older folks, greedy for gain.
Delinquent teenagers! Oh, how we condemn
The sins of the nations and blame it on them;
By the laws of the blameless the Saviour made known
Who is there among us to cast the first stone?
For in so many cases - it's sad - but it's true -
The title "DELINQUENT" fits older folks, too!

Hi kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. have fun!

Presentation teaches how to control diabetes

by Stephen Dawson, M.D.

On July 13, a special on Diabetes was held here in Minden. In this week's article I would like to recapitulate the main features of the presentation.

First of all to define Diabetes, it is a syndrome consisting of high blood sugar, along with hardening of the arteries in the large blood vessels (arteriosclerosis) as well as the small blood vessels (microangiopathy). There is also damage done to the nervous system.

There are two main types of Diabetes. Insulin-dependent diabetes mellitus (IDDM) usually affects young patients with an abrupt onset. These patients without insulin treatment are prone to a serious condition known as ketoacidosis when blood sugar is out of control. Non-insulin dependent Diabetes mellitus (NIDDM) is by far the most common form, and usually affects older, obese patients. In this type, there is enough insulin but the fat and muscle doesn't respond to the insulin by taking in sugar as they normally should. Instead the sugar stays in the blood. These patients have a strong family history of diabetes and usually respond well to lowering the carbohydrate (starch and sugar) intake.

Blood sugars can also be raised by other diseases of the pancreas, (the organ that manufactures insulin) certain hormonal conditions, various drugs including blood pressure pills, medications for epilepsy, arthritis, anxiety, etc. It is important for anyone on such medications to get their blood sugar checked.

Also high blood sugars are found in diseases of the thyroid, kidneys and also in pregnancy (gestational diabetes).

So what basically happens in diabetes to cause all the potentially serious problems? Basically, if there is either not enough insulin or lack of proper response to insulin, the sugar stays in the blood instead of going into the cells of the body, such as muscle and fat cells where it is utilized for energy.

The cells must then break down other substances such as protein and fat which produce ketoacids. This condition called ketoacidosis causes a serious rise in the acid level of the blood. There is "spilling" of the sugar from the blood into the urine and the sugar in the urine tends to draw out more water from the body causing dehydration. Also lost in the urine are the electrolytes (sodium and potassium). The loss of water from the body causes an intense thirst.

Most diabetics think they are passing too much urine because they are drinking too much water but it is actually the other way around.

Diabetics also get complicated metabolic changes which lead to arteriosclerosis.

The rate of hardening of the arteries is 50 to 100 times the rate of a non-diabetic. Also the capillaries are affected by abnormal deposits and there is a resulting damage to the eye's retina and the kidney's filtration units.

The nerves in diabetics lose "myelin sheath", a covering which is necessary for normal transmission of nerve impulses. This abnormal process called "demyelination" results in loss of sensation in the fingers and toes.

From the above changes that take place in the bodily processes I think you can now appreciate why diabetics are prone to the following problem: 1. blindness; 2. strokes; 3. heart attacks and angina; 4. kidney failure; 5. poor circulation as well as many other complications.

The purpose of this presentation was to better inform diabetics of their condition so that better control of their diabetes may possibly help prevent some of the complications.

Two excellent presentations were made by Public Health Nurse, Margaret Graham and Dietician Rosie Kadwell on home-management and dietary control of diabetes at the same meeting, and unfortunately, summarizing their points would simply not do their presentations justice. Their fine contributions to this seminar were greatly appreciated.

Next week I'll discuss management of diabetes by diet, exercise and medication.

Dear Readers: It's a bit cooler today thank goodness. Services in the chapel Sunday night were by Rev. J. Burgess and Mrs. Burgess, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson. On Tuesday morning Rev. Fast from Minden Gospel Church had the service.

Movies Monday evening were "Paint it Wild" and "Pasturelands".

Doris took a bus load of folks from here to Dorset last week. She intended to go to Hollow Valley, but, took the wrong turn so came back home.

The Lutterworth Ladies served our afternoon tea. It was a real hot day, and we appreciated them coming out in the weather. As usual the lunch was delicious.

Earl Coopers came Wednesday evening to entertain us and Friday evening Mr. Bill Payne and his group came. We certainly enjoyed them very much.

Mr. Samuelson put on a video tape for us on Friday afternoon. It was made a few years ago in Newfoundland. It was good.

Mr. Gauthier had his daughter with him for dinner on Friday. Mr. Ed

Brohm came on Tuesday and took me to lunch which I enjoyed very much. I had Nancy Lyle from Kitchener for my guest on Sunday for lunch. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron from Peterborough came to call on Winnie Barnum who is not very well at present. Mrs. Oliver had a visit with her daughter Rosemary from Haliburton.

We are glad to see Mrs. Jarvis home from the hospital and feeling much better.

Mrs. Dora Dawson of Peterborough spent the afternoon visiting Miss Dora Dawson and others at Hyland Crest.

Doris took a short bus ride this afternoon to Norland and had ice cream there, came back a different route and ended up in back of Hyland Crest where it looks like another village is shaping up.

Edna Cowan is away for a few days visiting.

Guild elects officers

by Shirley Hodgson

Well, it is official now - Ginnie Muenzel is the President of the Guild of Fine Arts. Barbara Peel is the first Vice President and Alex MacLeod is the second Vice President. Vivienne Hill is the Treasurer.

Good luck, Ginnie - and fellow members. Please get behind this Executive and help them in any way that you can to make this a truly successful year!

Now, if you have a sense of humour you really should visit the Rails' End Gallery anytime during the month of July. The show "On the Lighter Side of Life" has allowed the instructors of the Haliburton School of Fine Arts - to create a "light hearted" work of art. I stopped in to see this show last Friday and I especially enjoyed Marilyn Brooks work. Her talent really shows up in her picture titled "Midnight Snack" and I had a good laugh when I saw Margaret Stephenson-Coole's "The Fly Catcher". This show is very interesting and amusing.

Please keep in mind the fourth "Annual Art Auction." There are several works of art on display in the Waiting Room at the Gallery. There is a reserved bid set by the artists.

Visitors to the Gallery have 30 days to make a bid on any of the items on display. On the evening of the auction, bidding begins at the last reserved bid. The Auction will be held Wednesday, July 28 at the Rails' End Gallery. There will be an all day preview with the auction and refreshments in the evening.

The Haliburton School of Fine Arts is constantly growing and gaining in reputation as a School of superior teaching in the area of arts and crafts. It has become a vibrant place of learning. There are approximately 1,300 students enrolled this year. They will be coming from all over Ontario, Quebec and other provinces.

The teachers are excellent and they are from far and wide places, as well. One of the teachers - Stephanie Gaustad is a working artist with a degree from the University of California. Another teacher, George Pratt taught stone carving and from all reports his classes have been successful. He actually has come home for a couple of weeks. He was born in Minden but he has lived in many parts of Canada - but at the present time he is living in British Columbia.

There are 35 full course so far at the school - but there are still openings in some of the classes. Please get in touch with the Haliburton School of Fine Arts if you are interested. P.O. Box 339, Haliburton, Ont. K0M 1S0 or phone 705-457-1680.

Pumps cause PCB problem

by Doreen Hawman

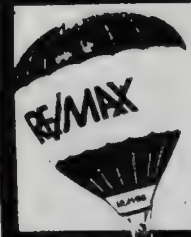

A recent investigation by the Ministry of the Environment suggests that if you are using an oil-filled submersible pump in your well, PCBs could be getting into your water supply. Oil-filled motors manufactured between 1964 and 1980 could contain PCBs. (Water filled motors do not.)

The Haliburton County Information Centre has obtained from the Ministry a "Homeowners' Kit", this kit contains a checklist and questionnaire to help you find out if you have a pump that could be leaking PCB oils into your well.

If you have any doubts about your pump, please drop into the centre and pick up a copy. We are situated in the Drag River Municipal Building, Maple Ave., open daily 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. or call 457-2733.

Our Minden centre, located in the Municipal Building, Milne St., will be closed for the next two weeks but will be open again August 4th from 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. and each Tuesday thereafter. For information during this period call 457-2733 or visit the Haliburton centre.

Sunday, July 26th

All those who have family and friends buried in St. Peter's Cemetery are invited to a special Memorial Service at 4 p.m. This kind of service is traditional in many cemeteries. We would like to make one suggestion. Instead of placing flowers on the graves, may we suggest that in lieu of flowers the money be donated to St. Peter's or a charity of your choice. Following the service in the Church, light refreshments will be served either outside or in the basement depending upon the weather.

THANKS

The Rockcliffe Riders thank all the citizens and business owners in Minden for their patience and co-operation. Our event was very successful due to the efforts of 75 volunteers and many hours of work. We also thank the Ministry of Natural Resources, the O.P.P., Labatts, Bill Payne, Prentice-Berry Ltd., Cameron Cycle of Peterborough, Pine Ridge Resort and those hunt camp operators who all helped to make this year's event a big success.

from our family dinner catered to by St. Paul's Ladies of Minden, the party and a wonderful weekend which followed. To each of you - thanks. We love you all.

CARD OF THANKS

Dear hearts and gentle people. I would like to thank each and every one. Friends, neighbours and relatives for all the cards, calls, flowers, Marg Miller, Jeanne Bowron, Anne Dunsford for the delicious supper they provided, for your condolences, donations to the Hospital and Cancer Society. Your helpfulness, kindness, and caring during Cliff's illness and through our time of sorrow. There are no words to express our gratitude and appreciation.
With a community such as this, one can only be uplifted and never lonely. I'd like to express a very special thanks to Dr. Dawson, and his staff, the Minden Hospital staff for their care and devotion to Cliff's and my well being, and to Father George Elliott for his constant spiritual love and help that strengthened us through our trying times.
And for The Times for their help and support. To the Lions and Lionesses for the lovely service and being pall bearers and honorary pall bearers. And the staff of Monk's Funeral Home for their superb help. May God bless each and every one of you to the fullest.

The Mountain Lake Property Association would like to thank those local merchants who contributed to the draw held during our annual meeting: The Times, The Highlands Cinema, I.G.A. Minden, Home Hardware (Minden) and the Municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden.

The Stanhope Firefighters' Association thanks all those nice people who either donated items, their labour or time to make our auction and bake sale a successful event. Thanks again for your support and we also thank the public for their patronage. See you next year.

CARD OF THANKS

A special thank you to Dr. Holliday-Rhodes for his care, concern and patience and to the nurses and staff of the Minden Hospital for their kindness and understanding to me while a patient in the hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

COWEN: In loving memory of a dear friend, Royce, who passed away July 18, 1983.

In our hearts a memory is kept,
For a true friend we respected and will never forget.

Always remembered by your friends Ken & Bonnie.

GARTSHORE: In loving memory of a dear son, brother, and uncle, Don, who passed away July 20th, 1978.

Nine years have passed since you left us,
Your face no more we see.
But we still have happy
memories
Of the days that used to be.
We cannot halt the hands of time
Or live again the past.
Within our hearts are
memories
That will forever last.

Forever loved and sadly missed by Mom, Vern and Marlin, Craig, Margaret and Jason, Gary, Pat, Chris, Gary Jr. and Sean.

MISCIO: In loving memory of a dear brother, Petrol, who passed away July 20, 1979.

Eight years ago today he left us,
As angels keep their watch
up there,
Please God just let them know
That we down here, do not forget.

We loved and miss him so.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Sisters Vera and Nell.
